

*The Homeless Advocacy Project & PECO
Present a Free:*

“Birth Certificate Clinic”

- When? Wednesday, June 6, 2012
9:00a.m. - 11:00a.m.
- Where? Project H.O.M.E.
1515 Fairmount Avenue, (Backspace)
Philadelphia, PA 19130
- Who? Open (and free of charge) to homeless individuals and families and those at risk of homelessness

Birth certificates are often needed to receive medical assistance, housing and other public benefits, to obtain a Pennsylvania driver’s or nondriver’s license, for access to many public buildings, for general identification and for many other purposes. They are even more critical now to preserve your right to vote.

Homeless individuals who attend this free clinic will meet with an advocate who will request birth certificates for them and their minor children free of charge.
